

Mental Health Declaration of Human Rights by the Citizens Commission on Human Rights

Full informed consent includes:

1. The right to a scientific/medical test to confirm any diagnosis of psychiatric disorder.
2. Full disclosure of all documented risks of any proposed drug or treatment.
3. The right to be informed of all available medical treatments, which offer an alternative to the administration of a psychiatric drug or treatment.

Further,

- A. No person shall be given psychiatric or psychological treatment against his or her will.
- B. No person may be denied his or her personal liberty by reason of so-called mental illness without a fair jury trial by laymen and with proper legal representation.
- C. No person shall be admitted to or held in a psychiatric institution, hospital or facility because of their religious, political or cultural beliefs and practices.
- D. Every patient has:
 1. The right to be treated with dignity as a human being.
 2. The right to hospital amenities without distinction as to race, color, sex, language, religion, political opinion, social origin or status by right of birth or property.
 3. The right to have a thorough, physical and clinical examination by a competent registered general practitioner of one's choice, to ensure that one's mental condition is not caused by any undetected and untreated physical illness, injury or defect, and the right to seek a second medical opinion of one's choice.

-
4. The right to fully equipped medical facilities and appropriately trained medical staff in hospitals, so that competent physical, clinical examinations can be performed.
 5. The right to choose the kind or type of therapy to be employed, and the right to discuss this with a general practitioner, healer or minister of one's choice.
 6. The right to have all the side effects of any offered treatment made clear and understandable in written form and in the patient's native language.
 7. The right to accept or refuse psychiatric treatment, including but not limited to, electroshock treatment, insulin shock, lobotomy (or any other psychosurgical brain operation), psychotropic drugs and operations such as sterilization.
 8. The right to make official complaints, without reprisal [punishment], to an independent board, which is composed of nonpsychiatric personnel, lawyers and lay people. Complaints may encompass any torturous, cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment received while under psychiatric care.
 9. The right to have private counsel with a legal advisor and to take legal action.
 10. The right to discharge oneself from a psychiatric facility at any time and to be discharged without restriction, having committed no offense.
 11. The right to manage one's own property and affairs with a legal advisor, if necessary, or if deemed incompetent by a court of law, to have a State-appointed executor to manage such until one is judged competent. Such executor is accountable to the patient's next of kin, or legal advisor or guardian.
 12. The right to see and possess one's hospital records and to take legal action with regard to any false information contained therein which may be damaging to one's reputation.
 13. The right to seek criminal action, with the full assistance of law enforcement agents, against any psychiatrist, psychologist or hospital staff for any abuse, false imprisonment, assault from treatment, sexual abuse or rape, or any violation of mental health or other law.
 14. The right to sue psychiatrists, their associations and colleges, the institution, or staff for unlawful detention, false reports, or damaging treatment.
 15. The right to work or to refuse to work, and the right to receive just compensation on a pay scale comparable to union or state or national wages for similar work, for any work performed while hospitalized.

16. The right to education or training to enable one to better earn a living when discharged and the right of choice over what kind of education or training is received.
17. The right to receive visitors and a minister of one's own faith.
18. The right to make and receive telephone calls and the right to privacy with regard to all personal correspondence to and from anyone.
19. The right to freely associate or not with any group or person in a psychiatric institution, hospital or facility.
20. The right to a safe environment without having in the environment, persons placed there for criminal reasons.
21. The right to be with others of one's own age group.
22. The right to wear personal clothing, to have personal effects and to have a secure place in which to keep them.
23. The right to daily physical exercise in the open.
24. The right to a proper diet and nutrition and to three meals a day.
25. The right to hygienic conditions and non-overcrowded facilities, and to sufficient, undisturbed leisure and rest.